

Professor Zhang Ping, Peking University School of Law

86-10-62751268, hellopek@pku.edu.cn

Since 1991, Zhang Ping has been teaching at Peking University Law School. In 2004, she has been appointed Chair Professor of Yahoo-Founder of Peking University Law School and director of the Internet Law Center of Peking University. She has been the executive director of the Institute of Intellectual property of Peking University since 2009 and she was a executive dean of Guangdong-Hong Kong-Macau Greater Bay Area Intellectual Property Development Research Institute of of Peking University since 2018. She was once a visiting scholar of Washington University in 1989 , researcher of IIP in Tokyo in 2001. and a visiting scholar of Stanford University in 2017-2018,

Her research interests are intellectual property law and internet law. She has participated some key projects including National Outline for Medium and Long Term S&T Development; Outline of the National Intellectual Property Strategy; Internet Based legislation Research; Patent Law, Trademark Law, Copyright Law revision research. Her recent interest are intellectual property rights protection and application in internet opening innovation, the conflict and balance of company's patent interests and public benefits in standard settings and related antitrust issues, legal issues of personal information in big data.

Main Publications: On Intellectual Property Law, Focus on Intellectual Property in Cyberspace; Standardization and Intellectual Property Strategy, Shearing of Knowledge:the Analysis of Intellectual Property Related to Open Source Software .Editors in Chief: Internet Law Review, The Investigate on Tariff Law Article 337 in U.S.A:The Competition of Industry Benefits; Intellectual Property Policy of Technology Standard In Information Industry. Chief Translator: E-Business and Internet Law, (IAN C. BALLON).

She has some other part-time jobs: Vice-chairman and Secretary General of the Chinese Society of Science and Technology Law,; Vice-chairman of the Intellectual Property Law Association. She was a Invited consultant of the Beijing Intellectual property Court, Shanghai Intellectual Property Court, Guangzhou

Intellectual Property Court, expert member of SIPO etc.